DESCRIPTION OF SERVICES

The Division of Youth and Family Services (DYFS) is the state-mandated child protective services agency in New Jersey. DYFS receives and responds to reports of child abuse and neglect, provides protective services to children and services to families to assure the safety of children in the home. If necessary, children may be placed in foster care until safety issues in the home can be corrected. Families may be offered various services from DYFS to assist them in solving problems in the home. Services may include substance abuse screening, counseling, and parenting programs. The Division also offers adoption services and licenses child care centers.
